

Privacy policy

Your privacy is important to us. This privacy statement explains what personal data Electric Mayonnaise Ltd collects from you, through our interactions with you and through our products, and how we use that data.

Personal data

Electric Mayonnaise Ltd collects data such as your email address, telephone number and sometimes your address in order to operate effectively and provide you with the best experience when using our services. You provide some of this data directly when you email us to request information on consulting, coaching, mentoring, packages, supervision or training.

How we use your personal data

Electric Mayonnaise Ltd uses the data we collect from you to provide you with an invoice or receipt for purchased services, to communicate with you about enquiries you have made, to book, change or cancel an agreed appointment in the event of an emergency or unexpected situation and to advise you of any useful information that may come to our attention that is related to your original enquiry. All personal information is protected by passwords and anti-virus software. Your information is not shared with third parties for any form of marketing or joint ventures.

With your permission, it may be used to add you to a mailing list or as part of legal or insurance requirements.

Sharing of personal data

We share your personal data with your consent as above.

How to access and control your personal data

You can request that your personal data be removed or deleted at any time.

You can always choose whether you wish to receive occasional promotional emails for products or services that may interest you based on your original enquiry. You can also opt out and/or unsubscribe at any time.